Government To Confiscate Tax Dodgers' Property

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(By the United Press)—A nationwide drive against tax dodgers has been started by the federal government today. The warrants will be issued in other cities just as rapidly as the clerical force of the collector's office can prepare the necessary papers.

HEID BETTER; GUN USER RELEASED

There was little or no change Wednesday morning in the condition of Louis Heid, 15 year old, victim of the accidental shooting which occurred at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heid, 3029 Walnut street, East Portsmouth, yesterday morning when he was wounded in the neck by a shot fired from a revolver in the hands of George S. Carver, 19 years old. The wounded lad is in Hempstead hospital but his wound is not regarded as serious and it is believed by the attending physicians he will have a speedy recovery.

Young Carver, who was taken into custody following the shooting, was held but a few hours when he was released after an investigation convinced the officers that the shooting was purely accidental, all the facts supporting the stories of the two principals that it resulted from Carver not knowing the gun was loaded. The Heid boy exonerated Carver from all blame.

Both classes have declared an armistice and it is not believed there will be any further trouble over the matter.

Will there be enough ARCOLAS to go round this year?

THERE weren't enough in 1921 —5,000 home-owners were disappointed.

This year, with our factories already over-taxed by orders for larger Ideal Boilers, we can make only the same number of ARCOLAS as in 1921. Yet three times as many homes are being built.

So we urge you earnestly to see your Heating Contractor this week, and find out what it will cost you to have ARCOLA installed, with a genuine American Radiator in each room.

The cost is surprisingly low; and in three average winters ARCOLA pays back a large share of the cost in the fuel it saves.

Fruit Damaged. The Tronon Register says: "T. T. Cox telephoned us from his farm on Greasy Ridge that the temperature at his place last Friday night was 12 degrees. He made a close examination of the peach buds and failed to find a single bud alive. This would indicate that all the peaches of the county have been killed. A minute inspection of the cherry buds indicate that they have also been killed. Naturally, the apples have not been hurt as they are not far enough along to perish from the cold."

Terminal Revival Full Of Interest

A good sized congregation was present again last night at the revival meetings being held at Terminal church. The pastor preached on "Darkness or Light" from the text, "And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil." John 3:19. The special music was a solo by Mrs. Robinson of Trinity church, and a number by the choir.

Tonight is "Official Board Night." Every member is expected to be present. The roll of Official Board members will be called in order to see how many are present, and that the people may know who are the official members of the church. The special music tonight will be a solo by Miss Hannah Reider, and a trio by Miss Hazel Massie, Miss Grace Tolle, and the pastor, assisted by the choir on the choruses. The Junior choir is requested to be present and occupy front seats in the church. They will sing tonight also.

A REAL COMEDY AT SUN TONIGHT

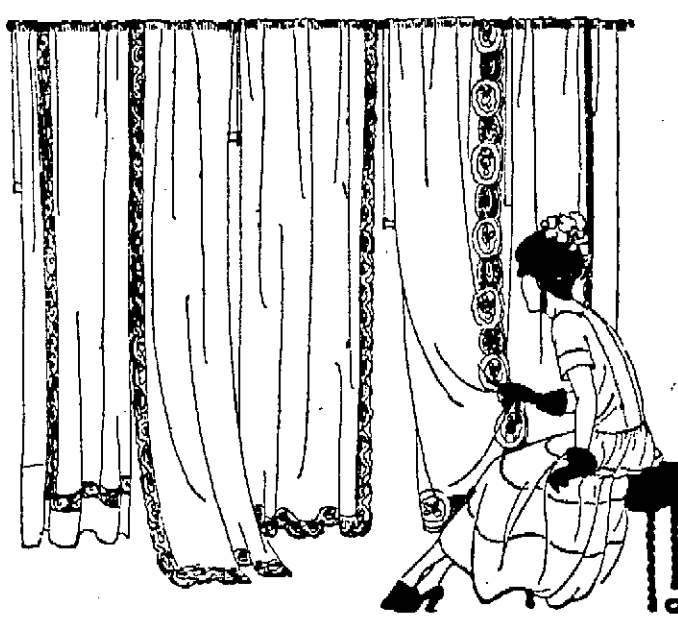

Tonight at the Sun, Portsmouth theatre goers will have their last opportunity of witnessing the big laughing hit "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," the Al H. Woods comedy, which has been another big success for the Jack Rall Players. Starting with a bargain matinee tomorrow and for the last three days of the week, "Civilian Clothes," the Oliver Morosco Success is scheduled for its first appearance locally. "Civilian Clothes" unfolds a romantic love story of Captain Sam McGinnis and Florence Lanham. During the world war, McGinnis met and fell in love with Florence Lanham, who is a Salvation Army lassie and served overseas. The marriage followed. McGinnis is reported killed in the Argonne Sector, and his wife returns mourning his death. Later Sam turns up to claim his bride, but in his "civies." Florence is a snob in reality and when she sees her former brave soldier now in civilian clothes she shows her disgust. The husband a fighter over seas, and in civilian life as well, proceeds to tame his wife. He lives out as a butler in the girl's home and in the end brings the girl to see her real true self. The comedy, vetu of this piece by Thompson Buchanan, is cleverly woven into the play, and "Civilian Clothes" will doubtless be a big feature attraction to local play-goers. Next Monday brings to this city a late New York success, which is promised by the stock company management as the prettiest and most wholesome comedy ever seen upon a local stage. "It's A Boy," by William Anthony Mc Guire, is said to be the crowning success of the country, at the present time in stock companies. To Play Duquesne. MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—West Virginia university's baseball team will play its season's opener next Friday when Duquesne university will be here. A second game with Duquesne will be played the following day.

The Window is the New "Social Register"

You write your own record for the Public to read daily. Your window curtains, the only part of your furnishings which the public sees, tell of your good taste or bad, your wisdom or parsimony to every passer-by.

The old social register was a book seen by but few; the new register is your window, seen by all.

It is in recognition of the importance of the window as a center of decoration that we feature Draperies especially during

Home Craft Week

The Original Better Homes Week All This Week

During this week we have on display the newest styles in window materials and also displays showing the approved methods of hanging them.

Here are a few delightful suggestions for your "Social Register."

Tuscan Net

The demand for a virile, a masculine window covering has led to the development of a new fabric known as TUSCAN NET because of its Italian spirit. It is a fabric you will want to see, for it has limitless uses.

Filet Grandee

The Aristocrat of Filets

This beautiful Quaker curtaining is probably the most remarkable fabric ever produced by other than entire hand work. It has the effect of the soft-yarn, big-mesh, antique Italian Filet, and is one of the most decorative as well as aristocratic of window coverings.

Casement Lace

Decorators declare that QUAKER CASEMENT LACE is the final development of the casement treatment. It combines the dignity and refinement of the casement cloth with the element of transparency which is the basic requirement of any modern window covering. Many delightful patterns.

Crochet Tuscan

(Hand Finished)

Here's the latest development of the genuine Quaker Tuscan Net which took the decorators by storm a season or so ago. The virile masculine effect of the original Tuscan is still further emphasized by the hand-crocheted effect of this new line.

The new Quaker Craft Nets by the yard are also at your inspection during this week. The new Cretannes, Velours, Tapestries, Onimoka Sunfast Draperies, new Rugs, new Linoleums and ever so many more Household Needs that will brighten up the home.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—As I have never written to you, am coming to you for a little advice and also as a warning to young girls about getting married so young. I married quite young and I thought I loved my husband at that time. I have been married a number of years and have a family, but sometimes it seems that my life is miserable. My husband is so ignorant and dirty and simply has no manners at all. I am ashamed for him to talk when any one else is around. I suppose you will say that he must have been that way when I married him but I will say that he never seemed as bad as he is and is getting worse every day. It is all I can do to tolerate his presence a minute. And Dolly, I abhor his very touch. When I meet other men who are refined and well cultured I feel that I just simply cannot stay with my husband another day. I have always been good and true to my husband but I fear the time is near when I will turn to other men who are more to my liking. I have recently met another man who is just as he should be in every respect, and he is different from all the other men I have ever met and I have found myself a thousand times wishing my husband were more like him although there is nothing between the other man and myself. I drive my own car and go where I please. If it were not for this I know I would die of a broken heart. Take warning, girls, from a heartbroken wife and mother, and wait until you are 21 before you take the fatal step forever, as I know mine is ruined. What will I do, Dolly, leave my husband or stay on the job. I know he loves me.

Dear Dolly—I am fifteen years old, and I am going to High School. I want to know if bobbed hair is going out of style. I would have had my hair bobbed before this but my father didn't want me to but now he doesn't care if I do. I can fix my hair up very nice, but you know it takes so long, so please tell me right away if you would have it bobbed.

WANTED TO KNOW—Bobbed hair is not a matter of style. Girls who have bobbed their hair have done so because it was thin or falling out, and they thought it would come in thicker and longer if they cut it off. If you think it would benefit your hair to trim it, do so by all means, if not I would let it alone. Since you are only 15 years old you could wear your hair hanging down your back, and it wouldn't take long to fix it that way.

Dear Dolly—Are the Cincinnati Reds playing in the league this year?

The Reds are playing in the National League, as usual.

TIMES READER—Call me up about the books you mentioned, and call the green house about the dolls.

What to Eat and Why

A Natural Supply of Vitamin

The word "Vitamin" is new, but the thing itself is as old as the human race. It is the energizing, vitalizing, growth-producing element in the right food. Its absence is a serious fault of the wrong food. When the food is right, there is no need to go to the drug store for Vitamin. Grape-Nuts, the famous ready-to-eat cereal, supplies the natural Vitamin from the wheat, and a further supply is included in the cream or milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten. Grape-Nuts is delightfully crisp and appetizing, with a flavor which happily suggests the wholesome, health-building goodness which the food contains. Phosphorus and iron, as well as Vitamin, with a bran content to stimulate intestinal action, are supplied by Grape-Nuts. Many of our modern, "refined" foods lack these vitally necessary elements. Grape-Nuts digests easily and is assimilated quickly, and is splendidly nourishing and energizing. You'll find better health and fitness, in the natural way, with Grape-Nuts as a regular part of your diet. There's genuine economy in Grape-Nuts—many servings of this exceptionally nourishing food to the package. At your grocer's ready to serve. Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder. "There's a Reason." Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

LET'S take a heart, to the Cut-Out Lady," said Nancey. "Yes, let's," echoed Nick. So he reached up and pulled another flat sugar heart from the tree on the floating island. They read the verse on it and it said: "I love you." "That's a nice verse, so I'll put it in my apron pocket," said Nancey. "Now we'd better be going." So they got into their saucer boat with the silver spoons for oars and rowed back to the shore of the island lake with the patty shells on the shore and started up Sugar-Loaf Hill. "We must be nearly there," said Nancey. "The Cut-Out Lady's house can't be far away now. We've been traveling for ever and ever so long." And then at that very minute they saw it. It was made of cardboard and all the flowers and trees were cut-outs. Over the door was a sign which said "Mending" in neat letters. The sign was in neat letters, not the mending. On the doorknob was the coconut cat, asleep. No doubt his mistress had stuck new coconut all over him after the fight, for he looked as good as new. Not a bit of his sponge-cake body showed anywhere. Suddenly he opened his eyes and sat up. "Mew-ew," he said. "Who are you and what do you want?" "Is the Cut-Out Lady in?" asked Nancey. "Yes, here I am!" said the Cut-Out Lady and she appeared in the doorway—sideways, of course—for, having only one side and no thickness, she wished to show her best side to the world. In her hand she held a needle. No doubt she was at that very minute mending the Gingerbread Man's clothes. Nancey thought of the buttons and wondered how she was doing them. "May we come in?" she asked. "We want to talk to you." "Certainly," said the Cut-Out Lady kindly. "But I can't offer you a chair. They are only cut-outs." "We'll sit on the floor," said Nancey.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

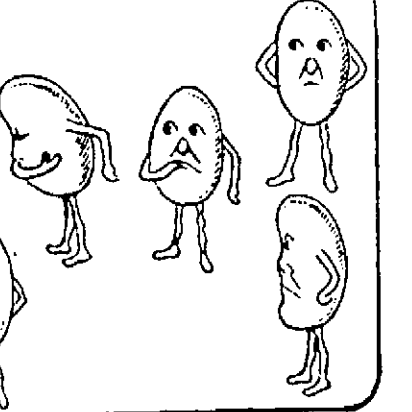

BY ELTON

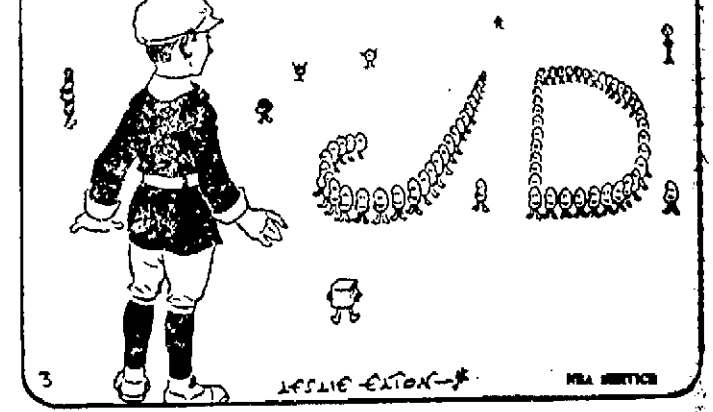

"Hello there, Jelly Beans," shouted Jack. "Well, how did you know our names?" asked one of the little candies. "Oh, I know a jelly bean when I see one. I've eaten lots of jelly beans," replied Jack. An alien as the little beans looked scared, he hurriedly added, "But I won't eat any of you."

At this moment a fairy little French boudon came walking by and the little jelly beans shouted "Hello!" But Miss Boudon didn't even look at them. "Why doesn't she speak to you?" asked Jack. "Oh, they are just common jelly beans and she's a stuck up fancy candy. That's why," said Caramel.

"Well," replied Jack, "I believe I like jelly beans the best." This pleased the fairy little curved candies and they told Jack they would do a trick for him to show their appreciation. In an instant they were marching around and soon had formed into lines that made Jack's initials. (Continued.)

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET, saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Greyes falls in love with Janet and proposes marriage. Michael disguises himself and attends the wedding reception. Having stolen a pearl necklace, the gift of Sir Norman to his bride, Sayers is helped to escape by Beatrice Kindersley. Michael returns the pearls to Beatrice, who returns them to Janet.

Michael reads a cipher message in the paper and decides to answer it in place of the man for whom it is meant. He sets the time of meeting one hour earlier than that stated in the paper. He meets the divorced wife of a politician and a companion and buys from her a bundle of manuscript, evidence against the woman's former husband.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Michael continues:

"Just cast your eye over that first," she invited. "That's an exact copy of the speech which Ted prepared for the mass-meeting in Liverpool in March."

"In Liverpool?" I repeated, hoping for some elucidation.

"The meeting that was called to decide upon the shipping strike," she explained a little impatiently.

To Darken Hair Apply Sage Tea

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store and use it ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Compound does it so naturally, so evenly, you just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs are gone, and after one or two applications or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advertisement.

rod in pickle for Ted that day, Lizzie."

"And serve him right, too," the lady remarked, glancing in her mirror and making some trifling rearrangement of her coiffure.

There was a brief silence. The man drew his chair a little closer to the table and addressed me with a businesslike air.

"Now, Mr. Martin, or whatever your name is, let's finish this job up," he proposed. "You've got a copy of the speech that Ted Randall promised his pals to deliver at Liverpool, typed at Mrs. Sinos' office, Number 23 Dale Street. You've got the original letter from Lord Kindersley, proving up to the hilt why he didn't deliver it; and," he went on, striking the table with his fist, "I am now going to tell you that that 50,000 pounds was handed over to Ted at the National Liberal Club the following evening at six o'clock, and was paid in by him, to his own credit, to five different banks on the following morning. The names of the banks are there, in pencil, on the back of Lord Kindersley's letter."

I leaned back in my chair and felt my way a little further.

"If we make a deal and you part with these documents to me," I said, "what use do you expect me to make of them?"

"We know pretty well whom you're acting for," the man put in, with a knowing grin. "I guess it won't be long before Charlie Payton handles these documents, if we come to terms."

"You have no conditions to make?" I asked.

"None," the woman snipped. "I've finished with Ted. He's a cur. You can publish the whole lot in the Daily Mail, if you like, for all I care."

"Then there remains only the question of price," I concluded.

The flush of wine and the momentary expansiveness of good feeling seemed to pass from the faces of my two guests. A natural and anxious civility took its place. They feared to ask too little; they were terrified lest they might scare me away by asking too much.

"They'd be worth a pretty penny to Ted," the woman muttered.

If Skin Breaks Out And Itches Apply Sulphur

Just the moment you apply Menthol-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying property, cools the irritation and heals the sores, it quickly subdues the itching, smooths skin in place of only eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowley Menthol-Sulphur at any drug store.—Advertisement.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

"You don't want to sell them to him," I pointed out.

"I don't, and that's a fact," she admitted. "Look here, Mr. Martin, they're yours for a thousand pounds."

A thousand pounds was precisely the sum I had brought with me. Without remark, I counted out the notes and pocketed the documents. The man and woman seemed very surprised at this unceremonious flash to the proceedings. The latter tucked away the notes in her handbag, while I paid the bill. When I rose to take leave of them, I could see, standing in the doorway and looking at us with a puzzled expression, a middle-aged man, who I decided at once was the individual whom I had impersonated. I said at once:

"The business is over, and I trust, pleasantly. Forgive me if I take my leave. There are others anxious to hear from me."

"Well, I'm sure you've been quite the gentleman, Mr.—Mr.—let me see, what was the name?"

"Well, it doesn't matter, does it?" I replied, "especially as it was only assumed for the evening. Good night, and good luck to you both." I added, as I made my escape.

"NOW, MR. MARTIN, OR WHATEVER YOUR NAME IS, LET'S FINISH THIS UP," HE PROPOSED.

There was a fine rain falling outside, but I walked steadily on, obsessed with the sudden desire for fresh air. The atmosphere of the place I had left, the character of my companions, the sordid ignominy of the transaction which I had just concluded, had filled me with disgust. Then I began to laugh softly to myself. It was a queer anomaly, this—

A MULTITUDE OF WOMEN RECOMMEND IT

The strongest recommendation possible for any medicine to have is the sound testimony borne by the vast multitudes of women who have used it. It has been proved that 98 out of every 100 women once ill with ailments that caused suffering and despair have been restored to the joys of health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This marvelous record shows its power over the ills of women and the letters of recommendation we are continually publishing in this paper should induce every ailing woman to try it.—Advertisement.

WENT TO THE DOCTOR AND THE DOCTOR SAID:

"Those pains around your heart after eating are caused by gas pressure from the stomach. That shortness of breath and palpitation can also be traced to the same source. Your fingers, arms and limbs feel numb and 'go to sleep' because the gas pressure restricts circulation in various parts of your body."

"The best and quickest way to relieve this condition is to take Hamilton's Gas Tablets before and after meals. Stop at the nearest drug store and get a dollar package of genuine Hamilton's Gas Tablets. The very first dose should give much relief. There's nothing better for the prevention of gas and stomach distress."

my plans. It seemed to me that the career of Mr. Edward Randall, M. P., and the reputation of Lord Kindersley, were equally in my hands. It was surely not possible that the two combined would not produce a reasonable profit upon my outlay of a thousand pounds. As I sat and smoked, another idea occurred to me, and before I retired to rest, I wrote a long letter of instructions to Mr. Youngshusband.

I remained at my office in Holborn on the following morning until I heard from Mr. Youngshusband upon the telephone. As usual he was most formal, addressing me as though I were one of his ordinary and respected clients. It was obvious, however, that he was perturbed.

"I have carried out your instructions to the letter, Mr.—er—Buckross," he announced, "but the magnitude of the operation which you have ventured upon has, I confess, rather staggered me."

"Let me know exactly what you have done," I said.

"I have sold," he continued, "for your account, through various firms of brokers, 25,000 shares, common, in the Kindersley Shipping Company at six pence each. Fortunately, there is no immediate prospect of a rise in stocks of this description, and I was able to arrange to leave margin amounting to only ten shillings a share, namely, 12,500 pounds."

"Very good," I assented. "What is the price just now?"

"The stock has dropped a trifle, naturally," the lawyer replied, "owing to your operations. The broker, however, at whose office I now am, advises me to disregard that. He thinks that it will probably recover during the day."

"Just so? When is settlement day?"

"On the 4th. Apropos of that, the various brokers with whom I have had dealings on your behalf desire to know whether you would wish to close your transactions or any portion of them during the next few days, if a profit of, say a quarter a share is shown."

The figures given out at the office Monday show that the gain for the month of March was $271.45. The receipts in 1922 were $5,685.92, while this year they were $5,957.37.—Chillicothe News-Advertiser.

First National Bank Officials Acquire Lyric Theatre; May Erect Twin Building

Proposed plans for the enlargement of the First National Bank which have been discussed for some time took definite form last night when officials announced that a deal had been consummated whereby the bank came into possession of the Lyric theatre property on the south of their present building. The theatre was purchased from Arthur H. Bannan, Edward J. Daehler, Simon Labold and Dan W. Conroy.

It will continue operations under the direction of Miss Charlotte Bannan until the new owners map out a definite building plan. The bank directors will appoint a building committee this week and it will decide on the plans for a new structure which in all probability will be a twin building to the present one.

The site purchased has a frontage of 25 feet on Chillicothe street and a depth of 130 feet. The plan of the officials is to use the entire first floor of the building which would double their present floor space. With the acquisition of the theatre the bank will have a frontage of 55 feet on Chillicothe street.

It was announced at the bank last night that a building committee would be appointed this week, definite plans formulated, an architect named, and the actual work of remodeling or construction gotten under way this summer.

The dimensions of the lower floor of our present building are 25x130 feet, said a bank official last night, and these have long ago proven inadequate for the purposes demanded of them. Every day we feel the need for more room and it is for this reason that we intend to have the work of construction under way just as soon as possible so that we may be provided with additional and sufficient floor space as soon as possible.

The decision as to whether or not another big modern and fireproof office building will be erected, will be made by the Building Committee that is to be appointed by the directors of the bank. There are in all 65 offices in the bank building. All of these are at present occupied, and there is a long waiting list of both local and out-of-town concerns wanting rooms. It is quite probable that the Building Committee will deem it advisable to erect another building adjoining the bank and containing a similar number and type of offices as are found there.

The First National Bank was originally established in 1863 on the east side of Market street, adjoining another financial institution, The Farmers Bank. A few doors south was located the old Portsmouth National Bank. P. S. Lams was the first president of the First National, and James Y. Gordon, cashier. Later A. T. Johnson and Louis W. Terry were cashiers.

In 1899, with the proposed erection of the Washington Hotel, the bank property, included in the site, was purchased by the hotel company. The First National was then moved to the old Massie block on the southwest corner of Second and Market streets. Six years later, in 1905, the bank was moved to the first floor of the Turley Building, Second and Chillicothe streets, in the room now occupied by the Ohio Valley Clothing Company.

It was but a few years later when increasing business made the necessity of a larger room felt and the bank corner, at Fifth and Chillicothe, where the First National Bank now stands, and which was then occupied by George Daum's Meat Market, was purchased. John Gilgen's wholesale liquor establishment stood on the site which a few years later was purchased for the erection of the Lyric Theatre.

Simon Labold is President of the First National Bank; A. M. Dunbar is Vice President, and Dan W. Conroy is Cashier. The institution has a capital of $400,000 and a surplus of $600,000.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, April 4.—With Liverpool and Buenos Aires quotations showing an upward tendency and with moisture lacking in the corn, wheat and a new upturn in price today during the early dealings, strength of corn values helped also to stimulate buying of wheat. Selling increased on the bulges in prices, but brought about only temporary reaction.

The opening which ranged from 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 higher with May 1 1/2 @ 1 1/2 and July 1 1/2 to 1 1/8, was followed by slight further gains, although interrupted by transient downturns.

The close was firm at 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 net higher May 7 1/2 to 7 3/4.

Scarcity of offerings in the corn market led to higher prices for corn and oats. After opening 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 % up, May 7 1/2 to 7 3/4, the corn market continued to ascend.

Oats started unchanged to 1/4 to 1/2 higher, May 45 and later held near to the initial range.

Provisions were firmer in line with the hog market.

Live market closed unsettled at 1 1/2 net, doing as firm at 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 % higher, May 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 % and July 1 1/2 to 1 1/2 %.

Tellegen Denies Women Guilty Of Diva's Charges

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—Lon Tellegen, husband of Geraldine Farrar, intends to return to New York at the conclusion of his theatrical engagement in June and offer testimony in behalf of any of the young women named as correspondents by the diva in her divorce suit. Tellegen made that statement yesterday when informed that Miss Stella Larrimore, one of the correspondents had been denied a jury trial in New York to establish her innocence. The actor said that it had been understood that the names of correspondents should not be made public when he agreed not to contest the divorce and that if Miss Farrar had been given out for publication, "I am sorry that the name of Miss Larrimore has been dragged into this case," he said, "and I have instructed my lawyer to do everything possible to protect her against these charges. Miss Larrimore's character must not be allowed to be blemished, and I mean to stand by her."

Trail Auto-Find Moonshine

LEXINGTON, KY., April 4.—(By the Associated Press)—B. F. Dunn, of Paris, and J. W. Baxter, of Lexington, unable to furnish bond, were in jail today after prohibition agents trailed their automobile more than thirty miles yesterday from the jurisdiction of Federal Judge Walter Evans, of the western district of Kentucky, into the jurisdiction of Judge A. M. J. Cochran, of the northern district in order to search the car without a warrant and obtain evidence of alleged liquor law violation.

The issue would be settled, once and for all, as to whether the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan is an institution to be considered by one individual for his private gain, or a great American fraternal organization, the affairs of which are in the hands of its members. Colonel W. J. Simmons refused to make any statement on the move of the Evans forces. "Everything will be threshed out in a hearing this afternoon," said Col. Simmons. "Until then I have nothing to say. At the headquarters of the Kamelia women's organization it was stated that court order obtained by Evans would have little effect on the action instigated by Simmons.

Fool Questions and a Foolish Answer

BY BUD FISHER

Billy Evans Says

Branch Rickey has nine outfielders to select three regulars from. As far as we are able to choose among them, yet before the opening of the season the Cardinal manager must decide on his three regulars.

"Bill" Myers is one of the nine outfielders already slated for a regular position. Myers will play the all-important center field. It is the hope of Manager Rickey that Myers will fill the void made by the untimely death of the Cardinal star, McHenry.

"Bill" Myers came to the Cardinals in a trade with Brooklyn. To get him Rickey parted with Jack Fournier, Myers is slated for a regular berth at St. Louis, while Fournier has announced his retirement. The reason for the retirement announcement is simply a difference of $1000 in salary.

The trade between Brooklyn and St. Louis, which involved Myers and Fournier, is perhaps the most discussed deal of the year. The general impression is that Brooklyn is badly stung.

When I met Wilbert Robinson at the Brooklyn camp at Clearwater, Fla., I put the proposition up to him. "The impression seems to be that I have been badly stung," said Robinson. "However, had Fournier reported I wouldn't have so regarded it. As it stands, I am.

"I figured that Fournier would help my kid infield more than Myers would the outfield. Myers is still a fine player, and when I made the deal I realized he would greatly help St. Louis. I wanted Fournier, and in order to get him I had to part with Myers. Fournier is no Sinner, yet he would have been a balance to my other young infielders."

When I met Manager Rickey of the Cardinals here I broached the matter to him. He had no idea that I had talked the proposition over with Robinson, yet his sizeup tallied almost exactly.

"Myers is going to be a good man for me," said Rickey. "He is still a good outfielder and can hit. He will help my club. I am sorry Fournier hasn't reported to Brooklyn. He would have been as valuable to Robinson as Myers is going to prove to me. I decided Bottomly was the better man for me, so had little use for Fournier. Since Robinson wanted him badly I insisted on Myers."

LEWIS FLOPS ITALIAN MAT ARTIST

CHICAGO, April 4.—"Strangler" Ed Lewis' vicious head-lock helped him to a two out of three falls victory for the world's heavyweight wrestling championship here last night from Renato Gardini, Boston, Mass., Italian. For the first fall Gardini slammed Lewis to the mat with a flying mare and while the champion lay with the breath smashed from him, pinned him with a double arm lock in 20 minutes and 32 seconds.

In an hour, eleven minutes and forty-five seconds, Lewis applied a dozen headlocks to Gardini for the second fall. The Italian challenger came out of the third fall dazed and weakened by the punishing grasp of Lewis' arms about his head and succumbed to four successive headlocks for the deciding fall in three minutes and twenty-one seconds.

Babe Ruth As A High Priced Writer

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, April 4 (United Press).—Among those great sport celebrities who have turned literatists, Babe Ruth, the swatter, is one of the most prominent. The Babe is not only the high priced man playing ball, but he is the highest salaried man writing baseball, if his terms haven't been reduced since 1921.

Not only that, but the Babe on his 1921 rate for wordage is the highest priced writer in the world.

In the spring of 1921, when Ruth's name began to have commercial value, he was hired by a press association to describe after every home run just how he did it, what kind of a ball it was and all the exciting details.

He signed a contract for a flat sum of $1,000 with a bonus of $5 for every home run. The Bambino hit fifty-four homers and that ran his pay up to $1,270, and the Babe's only contribution all season to his editor was one wire on the first trip to Boston, which read:

"Low fast one outside.

"Babe."

That rate is $254 a word, and it's as good a record in its line as 50 homers.

ASHLAND, Ky., April 4.—The contract for the erection of a junior high school here was awarded to the L. E. Payne Construction Company of Ashland on a bid of $95,544.10. The awarding was made by the unanimous vote of the board.

BROOKLYN'S PITCHING STAFF IS THE ONLY HOPE OF DODGER MANAGER

Only one of the many pitching recruits now being tried out by Brooklyn looks to be ready for the big show.

Leo Dickerman, purchased from the Memphis club of the Southern League for $10,000, is the athlete in question. He is a tall right hander with plenty of stuff, and appears to have an excellent chance to stick.

Dickerman, coming from Memphis, Tenn., which finished second in the Southern Association race, won 20 games and lost only seven for that club. He is the only finished-looking product among the hurling recruits and is likely to win a number of games for Brooklyn.

The burden of the Brooklyn club's showing will unquestionably be up to the pitchers. Robinson is banking strongly on Grimes and Reuther.

Reuther looks in fine shape. Dutch is a great golfer, spends much of his time on the links during the winter, which probably accounts for his good condition.

Reuther is signed to a sliding contract that calls for extra money in

CONVINCING ARGUMENTS WHY REDS HOPE TO WIN THE NATIONAL PENNANT

THE Cincinnati club feels that it has an excellent chance to win the National League pennant in 1923.

What are the reasons for so feeling? Here are a few of them:

The club went through a tough campaign in 1922. The players feel that the experience gained in that campaign will be of much help to many of the younger players.

The club lost 13 out of the first 14 games in 1922, certainly a terrific handicap to any club with championship aspirations. The players all feel that a worse start in 1923 is absolutely impossible.

While Eppa Rixey was one of the most effective pitchers in the league at the close of last season, he made a start that was in keeping with that of the club. He failed to finish one of the first nine games he started.

Every member of the club expects Rixey to have another big year, better than last, and all of them are positive that his start will not be in keeping with his 1922 effort.

While Babe Pinelli had the best year of his career, most of the players look for him to show the way in the National League at third this year. When Pinelli joined the Reds he had the task before him of replacing Heinie Groh. He more than filled the bill, but his nerve alone carried him over the first month or so when his task naturally affected his play.

The Reds are optimistic. They feel that in every way and every day the club is sure to play better ball than in 1922.
